Content

- Scientific concepts within design research
- Research methods within design research
- Traditional and new problem areas within textile design
- Experimental research work

Learning Outcomes

The course aims to develop students' basic skills in design research through experimental design methodology and knowledge about basic concepts within research, based on a scientific perspective of art and design.

After completing the course, students should be able to:

1. demonstrate an understanding of basic scientific concepts and methods within design research,
2. demonstrate an understanding of experimental research methods,
3. demonstrate the ability to define a problem area of relevance to the subject field,
4. demonstrate skills and abilities in initiating, planning and carrying out experimental investigative work.

Forms of Teaching

Tuition consists of lectures, seminars and supervision.

The language of instruction is Swedish. However, instruction in English may occur.
